

ALIGN YOUR ENERGY FOR

High End Sales Success

Checklist

Created by Jill Hope

Dear Conscious Mompreneur,

Are you ready to supercharge your purpose-driven business and become a high-earning powerhouse?

Imagine confidently walking into every sales conversation, securing high-end fees, and serving your ideal clients with passion and purpose. It's not a dream—it's your reality when you align your energy for high-end sales success.

Yet for many women entrepreneurs, sales can be a struggle. Many women in business struggle with:

- Self-Worth Issues

All too often, incredible women underestimate their true worth. Society's unspoken judgments and comparisons can lead to a crippling belief that they are somehow "less valuable" than others.

When you recognize your immeasurable value, aligning you with the confidence that your unique gifts bring to the world, others can't help but tune into that value and feel more confident and hopeful about their own possibilities in your presence.

- Confidence Challenges

Confidence can be elusive when you're not genuinely sold on your own offerings. Doubts about the value of your products or services can cast shadows of uncertainty over your sales conversations. When you infuse your sales pitch with authenticity and enthusiasm, you'll feel more confident in the transformation your offer brings, and that confidence will transcend to your potential clients. When you're confident in your offer, so will be your potential clients.

- A Lack of Leadership

The one who exudes the most certainty often triumphs. Yet many women, despite their expertise, shy away from the role of the confident leader in sales conversations.

When you harness your inner leader, you'll inspire potential clients to believe in the possibilities you present. Your expertise becomes the beacon they've been seeking.

- Middle Class Mentality

Entrepreneurs, coaches, speakers, and healers often find themselves navigating a maze of limiting beliefs. The "I can't" or "I'm not enough" mindset can cloud the path to success.

As you shift your mind instead towards possibility, vision, and abundance, and learn to banish limitations in your thinking, you'll turn your dreams into thriving wealth.

Being in the right energy during a sales conversation is crucial to your success. When you align your energy for sales success before hopping on a sales call, you'll project soaring confidence, unwavering self-worth, and a commanding presence as a powerful leader.

Here are 4 results that you can achieve from embodying the right energy for sales success:

💎 Increased Self-Worth: When you're aligned with your inner treasures and deeply connected to your authentic value, you'll exude confidence, making it impossible for others not to recognize your worth. You'll walk into every sales conversation knowing that you bring immense value to the table.

💎 Amplified Confidence: Imagine the thrill of confidently presenting your offer to potential clients and seeing them light up at the thought of creating this transformation in their life. When you're sold on your own offering, your enthusiasm becomes infectious. Your unwavering belief in your solution will have clients eagerly saying, "Yes!"

💎 Radiating Leadership: In the world of high-end sales, certainty is your superpower. As you align with your inner leader, you'll effortlessly guide ideal clients towards possibilities, inspiring them to believe in their potential. You'll no longer let doubts or fears hold you back—and you'll become the expert they've been seeking.

💎 Embodiment of a Wealthy Mindset: As you embrace a mindset that screams "possibility" over "limitation", "vision" over

"fear", and "yes, and" over "either/or", your mindset will transform from one of scarcity to one of wealth. By committing to your vision and banishing limiting beliefs, you'll pave the way for unprecedented success. This is when you'll turn your dreams into thriving wealth!

As you review the checklist that follows, you'll realize it isn't just a list of steps; it's a blueprint for a transformational journey. It's your key to unleashing the confident, unstoppable mompreneur within you, so you can elevate your self-worth, radiate confidence, and become the powerful leader your business deserves.

It's time to put a lid on self-doubt and stop letting it hold you back from massive sales success. Now is the time to embrace your worth, embody confidence, lead with certainty, and cultivate an abundance mindset.

You're about to break free from the sales struggle and unleash your potential, transform your business, and become the conscious mompreneur you've always aspired to be!

To your radiant success,

Jill Hope

ALIGN YOUR ENERGY FOR

High End Sales Success Checklist

High end sales success requires a specific and unique embodiment - that of the Energy of High End Success. This checklist encompasses the 8 key components of high end energy embodiment. Embodying this energy is something that anyone can learn. and it starts with a connecting to these 8 mental attitudes. On the following pages, you will see a summary of each energetic component.

8 ENERGETIC COMPONENTS OF

High End Sales Success

SUMMARY

Connect With Your Inherent Value

There is no value scale where some people are a higher value and others are a lower value. You have the same value as everyone else. Remind yourself how truly valuable and worthy you are. Connecting with your authentic, magnetic voice can help you stand more firmly in your value.

Connect With The Value of Your Aligned Offer

In order to sell your offer to someone else, you must be sold on it yourself. Get excited about your offer, the lifetime value it offers your client, and how your client's life will be forever changed by participating in your program. Be proud and excited to share your offer with the right potential clients. Create an offer that solves a big problem for your ideal clients and that you are really excited about.

Connect With Your Vision

Every result starts with a clear, compelling vision. But often in a sales call we are more focused on the fear, than the vision. Visualize the results you want in your business, serving ideal clients, and seeing the results they receive. Keep your focus here, rather than in your fear.

Connect With Universal Truth

Remember that you can't have a desire without the way for that desire to be created in your reality. What you were inspired to create is an answer to someone else's desire.

Connect With Gratitude

Gratitude is one of the most powerful forces in the universe, next to love. Connect with how grateful you are to have the opportunity to serve another human and do the work that you love. If you were truly grateful to help the person who has reached out to you, how would you feel? Channel that feeling into the conversation.

Connect With the Energy of Service

Sales is all about service. When you struggle to enroll potential clients into your program, you are likely making it about YOU, rather than about serving your client and their needs. Keep in mind that they have come to you for help. Ask questions, listen, and offer a solution.

Connect With Your Inner Leader

In a sales call, the one who is most certain "wins". This is not to say that the call is a competition. Rather, it is to say that you must be fully in your leader energy and lead your client to believe in what is possible for them. You are the expert, and your potential client has reached out to you for help. Lead your potential client to believe in possibilities rather than allow them to lead you to believe in their excuses and fears.

Connect With a Wealthy Mompreneur Mindset

A wealthy mompreneur mindset is different from a corporate or middle-class mindset. She thinks in possibilities rather than limitations, vision rather than fear, and "yes, and" rather than "either/or". She commits to her vision and does not let her current reality get in the way of her success. Our "Tune Your Mind to Wealth" Program can help you cultivate the mindset that turns wishes into wealth.
